

Intramurals

For the second consecutive year the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity has won the intramural championship. In winning the overall title, the Phi Kap's took an unprecedented five individual sports championships and displayed the greatest overall depth in the history of Washington and Lee's intramural program.

Phi Ep's enjoy a game of bridge with their house-mother.

"You'd better start prayin', buddy."

This year has brought Delta chapter prosperity and reason to expect more in the future. Handling Rush Week in such a way that he was honored by the National headquarters, Steve Case steered the chapter through with an eighteen-man pledge class. Openings, Homecomings, Christmas parties, Fancy Dress and many other social weekends were highly successful, thanks to the hard work of our Social Chairman, Harold Klick. The pledge class, keeping in tune with the social seasons, decorated madly (with the Brotherhood's forceful suggestion) and outdid themselves by panneling the chapter room. Chris Miller acted as overseer and top slave on the project.

Phi Epsilon Pi

The House owes a debt of thanks to the Phi Ep intramural tennis team that successfully swept the field of all competitors with a 7-1 record. Captaining the team which netted the House its newest trophy was Fred Taussig who went undefeated through the entire season. Corbet Bryant distinguished himself in the annual Turkey Trot and was noted by the brothers in pledge raids as having one of the fastest set of heels in the business.

The Lexington Symphony Orchestra.

Blummie and Friend.

ZBT opened the season with eighteen big ones—The house was a shambles as usual . . . Crash Winston headed the “croak” team . . . Sterling Stone dates post-grad, Mueller signs with the Colts . . . Diamond Jim Fulwider is still lost in Massachusetts . . . Freedom and Cohen are still thawing out from the flames across the hall—no names please! Then there was Van Bork—what a stud! The juniors are quarantined in College Park, Syd is star struck, and Ronny misses a mail truck. Remy is getting a new car, but the Cob must stick with the old one. Fred cleans up the apartment as Steve and David stand by “quietly.” H. D. finds a source of mono and trenchmouth while Zero is computer programmed . . . Hellman is in solitary . . . no body has seen Grandis . . . Kramer is worn out from those nights.

Zeta Beta Tau

Rubin gets a car (for two weeks) . . . Mags decides to graduate! Friedberg and 10-year-old? . . . Art moves into CALYX office . . . Danny Friedman finally makes a frat meeting . . . Ross turns 21 Karen gold Blummy-SCHLONG!
