OPENING DANCES

Following an open house cocktail party given at the Mayflower Hotel by the Zeta Beta Taus, the '51-'52 dance season opened officially to the strains of one of America's most popular dance bands, that of Ray McKinley. The theme of the dance echoed the dominant theme of the fall season—football. Doremus Gymnasium was transformed into a gridiron for the week-end.

Dance president, Hugh Glickstein, led his date, Miss Nancy Cohen of Washington, D.C., through the goal posts at the ends of the gym, accompanied by his four vice-presidents and their dates: Bill Guthrie with Miss Lucy Turner of Hollins College; Chat Smith with Miss Trudy Strickle also of Hollins College; Bob Goodman with Miss Nancy Stern of Colby Junior College; and Ewins Hamm with Miss Anne Kilby of Sweet Briar College. This impressive Cotillion Club figure marched past rows of blue and white streamers and pennants and a token of the season's greatest triumph, the grave of U. Va.'s football team.

The festivities continued through Saturday, with a concert of Shep Field's rippling rhythm from three 'till five. At four-thirty the Sophomore honorary societies, Pi Alpha Nu and Whitefriars, held a cocktail party, and finally at nine the Sophomore Prom began. Leading the figure was Class President Fletcher Lowe with his date, Miss Patricia Anne Jones of Greenville, S.C. Other class officers and their dates in the figure were Bill Cabell and Miss Carol Lee Sutherland of Norfolk, Virginia; John McDonald with Miss Patricia Collins of Washington, D.C.; Chuck Rauh with Miss Alice Feder of Shaker Heights, Ohio; and Knox Chandler with Miss Patricia Trotter.

Openings was truly a bright beginning for a gay social season to follow.
